Increase In Federal Gift Tax Exclusion

Effective January 1, 2006, the federal annual gift tax exclusion has been increased from $11,000 to $12,000 as a result of an inflation adjustment. Generally, no federal gift tax will be imposed on an account owner for gifts to a beneficiary during a year if the account owner's contributions to an account for the beneficiary, together with all other gifts by the account owner to the beneficiary for years after 2005, do not exceed $12,000 during the year, or $24,000 for a married individual who elects to split gifts with his or her spouse. If an account owner's contributions to accounts for a beneficiary in a single year (after 2005) exceed $12,000, the account owner may elect to treat up to $60,000 of the contributions, or $120,000 in the case of a consenting married couple, as having been made ratably over a five-year period.

Important Information About Hurricanes Katrina, Rita and Wilma

For taxpayers affected by Hurricanes Katrina, Rita and Wilma, the deadline for rolling over amounts from qualified 529 tuition plans has been extended. Rollovers are when a withdrawal from a qualified tuition plan is deposited into another account in the same qualified tuition plan, or when funds are directly transferred from one qualified tuition plan to another qualified tuition plan.

Generally, a distribution from a qualified 529 tuition plan must be rolled over into another qualified 529 tuition plan within 60 days in order to exclude the distribution from federal income taxation. However, taxpayers affected by these hurricanes may exclude a distribution from federal taxable income if the rollover deadline would normally fall on a date after the disaster and the rollover will be completed by the later of: (1) the 60th day after the distribution date, or (2) February 28, 2006. Affected taxpayers include those individuals who reside within the states and counties designated by President Bush as disaster areas, as well as businesses whose principal place of business is within those areas and certain other taxpayers. For a complete list of the designated states, counties and affected taxpayers, you may call toll free 1 866 562-5227 or visit www.irs.gov.
